Note: The meetings on Sunday 19 June will be held in English and French with the assistance of two interpreters.

Morning (9.30am - 1.00pm)

9.30am – 11.30am

Results of the October 2010 coordinators meeting: Alliance inter-network projects

- Bibliodiversity Day, 21 September 2011

On 21 September 2010, publishers in the Alliance's Spanish-language network launched the first "Bibliodiversity Day" in ten Latin American countries (read the blog at: <http://eldiab.org/>). Building on the success of this first edition (widespread media coverage, raising reader awareness, joint coordination of a project bringing together publishers, publicising bibliodiversity, etc.) Bibliodiversity Day could be extended to other Alliance language networks. What other projects and initiatives could the networks set up for 2011?

- The Prince Claus Fund translation programme

As part of the partnership between the Alliance and the Prince Claus Fund, a special fund has been created to sponsor the translation of 3 books in 2011 on the theme of “Culture and Development”. In order for this programme to be set up in complete transparency, the ICIP will need to help define “regulations” and criteria for determining which books will receive support.

Coffee Break (11.30am – 11.45am)

11.45am – 1.00pm

- The Nouredine Ben Khedher (NBK) Award

Following the decisions made at the meeting of the Alliance's Arabic-language network in April 2010 and discussions between coordinators in October 2010 regarding the NBK Award, it has been agreed that a steering committee (composed inter alia of French- and Arabic-language network coordinators) be created to define the award's objectives, its set-up, judges, etc. In this session, we will review and evaluate the various scenarios for setting up the award.

Lunch (1.00pm – 2.30pm)

Afternoon (2.30pm - 5.30pm)

2.30pm - 4.30pm

Establishing a charter for the “Fair Trade Book” label

Many of the Alliance's solidarity co-publications carry the “Fair Trade Book” label, even though this label is not defined in any terms of reference. While definitions of fair trade books and solidarity co-publications exist, it would be extremely useful if we could establish a common charter based on examples of co-publications produced within the Alliance.

The “Fair Trade Book” label currently reads as follows:

This book has received the “Fair Trade Book” label. This label is awarded by the International Alliance of Independent Publishers – a network comprising 85 publishers from 45 countries (www.alliance-editeurs.org) – to works published under international publishing agreements that respect the individual nature of each publisher. These “solidarity co-publications” are a means of sharing the costs associated with the intellectual and physical production of a book. This leads to economies of scale, allows professional know-how and common experiences to be shared while still respecting a publisher’s cultural context and identity, and results in works having wider distribution, since prices are adjusted according to geographical region or a standard price is established within a particular sales zone. The “Fair Trade Book” label symbolises solidarity between publishers – a solidarity that also indirectly incentivises the reader. A book that sells for 25 Euros in France, for example, can be purchased for half that price in the Republic of Guinea.

Constanza Brunet (Marea Editorial, Argentina), President of EDINAR (Argentinian Alliance of Independent Publishers for Bibliodiversity) and coordinator of the Spanish-language network’s regional co-publication programme, will participate in this session.

We ask ICIP members kindly to prepare for this working session by compiling a list of a dozen criteria defining their view of a solidarity co-publication.

Coffee Break (4.30pm – 4.45pm)

4.45pm - 5.30pm

Ethics and Responsibility Charter

“The Forum of Ethics & Responsibilities (FER) is made up of individuals, professional and thematic networks, and organizations aiming to introduce the concept of Responsibility into international debate in order to face the current multiple crises (environmental, economic, finance, and social). The FER partners’ actions aim to promote cultures of responsibility in every field of human activity. It has become urgent to have “Responsibilities” recognized as equally important as “Rights,” hence to claim an internationally acknowledged reference text alongside the two existing “pillars” on which international life is based—the Charter of the United Nations (1945), for peace and development, and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (1948): a third “pillar,” so to speak, explicitly setting out universal principles of human responsibilities, to serve as a basis for generating national and international law, as has been the case for the Universal Declaration of Human Rights”. Website: <http://www.ethica-respons.net/>

Edith Sizoo (Alliance Board member), who is in charge of the Ethics and Responsibility programme, will give a presentation on the programme to the ICIP and explain how Alliance publishers can become involved.

Upcoming Alliance Conferences

With regard to upcoming conferences, and in order for associates to prepare for them, we need to start thinking now about the following issues:

- What will be our common agenda for upcoming conferences and what do we hope to achieve?

- Where could the conferences be held?
- When would they be held?
- What would be the format?
- What resources will be available?
- Who will be the partners?

A questionnaire featuring proposals resulting from this meeting could be sent to associates before the end of the year to gather their views on the set-up of future Alliance conferences.

- What inter-language projects can be set up within the Alliance?

*Participating in this session will be Constanza Brunet and Michel Sauquet (author of numerous books including L'Intelligence de l'autre – prendre en compte les différences culturelles dans un monde à gérer en commun [Knowing the other – taking account of cultural differences in a world that is run jointly], and an Alliance Board member from 2002 to 2011).*

Afternoon (2.30pm to 5.30pm), including coffee break

Governance issues (2/2)

- Electing coordinators: should the procedure be formalised? If so, how?
- Do coordinators feel a “vice coordinator” is necessary?
- “Removing” certain associates from the network: on what grounds should a publisher be excluded? What procedure should be put in place to formalise this exclusion?
- Incorporating existing independent publisher collectives: how do we locate them? How do we facilitate their integration into the Alliance? How can publishers belonging to a collective become involved in Alliance projects? How do we let them know about Alliance activities?
- Creating “friend” or “associate” member status: discussion based on the case of publishers in Haiti.

Morning (9.30am to 1.00pm), including coffee break

Thanks to a partnership with the Prince Claus Fund, the Alliance has an opportunity to help create a Persian-language publishing group, featuring publishers from Iran, Tajikistan, Uzbekistan and Afghanistan, working within or outside their country of origin. After meeting Persian-language publishers in Germany, Sweden and the Netherlands, the Alliance has arranged for these publishers to meet as a group for the first time in Paris from 22 to 24 June 2011.

- Persian-language publishers operating outside their country of origin will give a presentation to the ICIP of their publishing houses, the difficulties they face and their expectations vis-à-vis the Alliance.
- The ICIP will give a presentation on the language networks within the Alliance, along with some flagship projects carried out within the networks in 2010 or 2011.

Contra Capa

Founded in 1992 in Copacabana, the Contra Capa bookstore initiated its publishing activities in 1996. First based on the areas of interest of the bookstore itself, these activities have diversified and now include fine arts, photography, cinema, psychoanalysis, anthropology, economy, sociology, history, literary criticism and poetry. The main objective is to produce books that combine interdependence between text and pictures, in the light of the continuous technological changes related to producing and disseminating knowledge and information.

Founded on 1992 by Guido Indij, la marca editora is an independent publisher specialized in art, photography, essays and poetry. In the last few years it has ventured into the publication of multiple numbered portfolios and experimental art books, along with more famous authors such as Michel Foucault, J-F Lyotard, Paul Virilio, J-L Nancy, Sylviane Agacinski. The main innovation of la marca editora is to experience in the relation between formats and contents. Thus, in each project it looks to extend the limits of the concept of what is known as a “book”.
