Digital publishing: what issues for bibliodiversity in the Arabic-speaking world?

From 30 April to 3 May 2014

With the support of the Abu Dhabi International Book Fair, the International Organisation of La Francophonie and the Prince Claus Fund

International Assembly of independent publishers
BACKGROUND

Following the digital publishing meeting organised by the Alliance in Tunis in 2011, several Arabic publishers members of the Alliance started producing and commercialising ePub files. These recent experiments have revealed several obstacles faced in the Arab world: Arabic font particularities, challenges to commercialise publications in online sales platform, etc.

In the context of the International Assembly of independent publishers (http://www.alliance-editeurs.org/-assises-internationales-de-l-121-), publishers from the Arabic-speaking world have decided to focus on digital publishing. The workshop will aim at drafting recommendations and proposals towards the creation of digital tools adapted to their contexts and concerns. While Arabic digital contents are still very few, it is of essential to support traditional publishers, in their transition to digital publishing. This workshop will be the 7th of the International Assembly of independent publishers.

In partnership with the Abu Dhabi International Book Fair, the Alliance convenes in Abu Dhabi, from 30 April to 3 May 2014, ten publishers from various Arab countries (Tunisia, Syria, Lebanon, United Arab Emirates, Algeria, and Egypt) and digital publishing experts from Lebanon, Jordan and Argentina.

WORKSHOP OBJECTIVES

- Help publishers to overcome technical obstacles met while creating ePub format digital books in Arabic;
- Discuss existing distribution platforms in the Arab world;
- Discuss promotion and e-marketing practices;
- Exchange techniques and tools amongst publishers from the Arab world;
- Draft recommendations to enable traditional publishers’ transition to digital publishing and ensure a better distribution and diffusion of digital publications in the Arab world.

Recommendations resulting from this workshop will then be shared at the level of public authorities and also to international standardisation authorities such as the International Digital Publishing Forum (IDPF).

Following this workshop, a round table will provide an opportunity to present the workshop’s conclusions in the context of Abu Dhabi International Book Fair’s professional programme.

Finally, the Alliance’s Digital Lab will publish the experiences of Arabic publishers and will support their projects in the medium term.
Warning:

1/ We thank you to prepare beforehand each session of this workshop, to be able to share concretely your experience. Each session will give you the opportunity to discuss with the panelists about your experiences and practices, but also to share your difficulties and concerns. Moreover, do not hesitate to bring with you some examples of ebooks you have made, or any other support that could be interesting for the debates. To reach efficient results, your participation before and during the workshop is essential! Some of your contributions may be then shared on the Alliance digital Lab.

2/ The workshop will be held in Arabic and English, with the assistance of interpreters.

Saturday 3rd May 2014

Public speech (11.00 am – 12.00 am)
Public speech venue: Abu Dhabi National Exhibition Centre

“Words & Money”: André Schiffrin’s struggle for independent publishing

Speakers:
- Nouri Abid, General Manager of Med Ali Editions (Tunisia),
- Nabil Mroueh, General Manager of Al Intishar / Arab Diffusion (Lebanon)

Nabil Mroueh and Nouri Abid are both members of the International Alliance of independent publishers. Thanks to a partnership between the Alliance and the Abu Dhabi International Book Fair, they took part in a workshop about “Digital publishing in the Arabic-speaking world”, with 15 publishers and digital publishing experts from various Arab countries. They will introduce briefly this workshop and its conclusions, before talking about “bibliodiversity” and independent publishing.

Description of the public speech:
In 2012, three publishers from Lebanon (Al Intishar), Syria (Altas Books) and Tunisia (Med Ali publishers), all members of the International Alliance of Independent Publishers, translated and co-published André Schiffrin’s essay entitled Words & Money, in Arabic. In this book, originally published by Verso Books in the United Kingdom, André Schiffrin explores new ways -both simple and innovative- to safeguard independent publishing and bookselling, but also cinema and the press.

While André Schiffrin left us recently, Nouri Abid publishers (Med Ali, Tunisia) and Nabil Mroueh (Al Intishar, Lebanon) will pay tribute to the French-American publisher by introducing his book Words & Money to the Abu Dhabi International Book Fair public, thus offering a great opportunity to discuss the relevance of André Schiffrin’s analysis with contemporary eyes.

The two speakers will also introduce the concept of “bibliodiversity”, as promoted by independent publishers and supported by the International Alliance of Independent Publishers. The notion of bibliodiversity refers to the necessary diversity of publishing outputs available to readers, and positions the central role of independent publishers in this book ecosystem. Bibliodiversity is in line with André Schiffrin’s thoughts.

Support from the Alliance

In the context of this workshop, the Alliance will fund your plane tickets back and forth.

KITAB will provide your hotel accommodation, 4 nights (from 29th of April to 2nd of May) full-board. The lunches and dinners are taken at the Rotana Centro Capital Centre Hotel buffet.

The additional expenses (extra nights, taxis expenses, etc.) have to be paid by the publishers.
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The International Alliance of Independent Publishers wishes to thank the Abu Dhabi International Book Fair who supports this workshop, and particularly Dr Wisam ALHARIRI and Marianne KENNEDY.

We thank the International Organisation of La Francophonie for the valuable assistance provided throughout the organization of this workshop.

We also thank the Prince Claus Fund who has contributed to the establishment of this workshop.

This meeting would not have been possible without the publishers themselves, who are the core and the main actors of our Alliance, working day after day to defend independent publishing and bibliodiversity.

A special thanks to Nouri ABID, Samar HADDAD and Nabil MROUEH for their fantastic assistance in the organization of this workshop.
